

GARDENER'S COTTAGE

STON EASTON PARK

YOUR VERY OWN RIVER COTTAGE

What could be more romantic or peaceful than a secluded country retreat, hidden in the grounds, yet within a minute's walk of the main house? The 17th century Gardener's Cottage, overlooking the Victorian kitchen garden and sitting right on the banks of the heavily wooded river, is country living at its most comfortable.

Comprising three self-contained suites, a spacious kitchen and comfortable sitting room, it provides a variety of options. Guests can take just one of the suites or book the whole cottage exclusively to enjoy with family or friends. Badgers, deer and foxes are regular visitors after dark while kingfishers, swallows and woodpeckers are guests' companions by day. Less formal than the main house, it's the epitome of rustic chic, surrounded by flowers, woodland and walled gardens.
