Your wedding, your vision

A wedding day means something different to every couple. For some, the 'Big Day' is just that, a huge, pulling out all the stops, Champagne popping party that no one will forget, while for others something more low-key and intimate is more their style. At Polurrian on the Lizard, we have the experience, the team and the jaw-dropping setting to make sure that whatever your preference, your wedding day will be just how you dreamed it would be.

We promise to take as much of the stress out of the whole planning process as we can, while allowing you, the happy couple, to control the direction and finer details of the celebration.

Come and celebrate your wedding with us in the jewel of Cornwall, the beautiful Lizard Peninsula. The Polurrian team are waiting to help you enjoy the celebration you always wanted.

We'll give the upmost care and attention to every aspect of your day with our professional, bespoke service, allowing each and every moment the freedom to be unique and personal to you.

But first, the Polurrian story

Our stunning venue is a historic hotel set high on the cliff overlooking the beautiful Polurrian Cove. The hotel was designed to bring people together, from all over Great Britain, originally constructed as a railway hotel in the late 1800's it has made its mark on the map with Guglielmo Marconi staying here whilst sending the first ever transatlantic radio messages.

In 1909, a fire devastated the original hotel, destroying everything but the terraces and steps near the tennis courts (which you can still see today). Soon after, a new hotel was built and the Polurrian became a hive of activity once again. During the Second World War, the hotel was an officers' mess for nearby RAF Predannack, and in 1953, Hollywood stars Clark Gable and Gene Tierney stayed while filming the romance adventure 'Never Let Me Go'.

There is a dream-like quality, style and romance at Polurrian on the Lizard. Over the past 100 years it has evolved but one thing has remained at the heart of it - it's a place for bringing people together and entertaining.

In 2019 the Polurrian was given a new lease of life with an exciting refurbishment, creating an experience every bit as inspiring as the surrounding landscape, it really is the most beautiful clifftop venue to host your wedding day.
